Finished Driving Mule

Green on Riding

KATE is a solid driving mule. She is good looking with great conformation. She and MOLLY are out of paint sister mares. They have been together their whole lives, so we choose to not split them up. She has the stocking legs for the chrome that gets you noticed in town. We were told that she has been ridden by the previous owners, but we have only used her for driving. She does saddle up with no issues. These mules have been driven on long trail rides both in the woods, on the trails and on pavement. We have driven them in lots of parades. They stand still good. They are easy to harness, hook and drive. They are good with loud music, flashing lights and crazy people on your wagon. They are a little bit hard to catch right at first when they don't know you. But you can catch them with feed or by calling them up to a catch pen with feed. With good kind treatment, they will become better to catch in just a couple weeks. They did so with us. They stand tied, load in the trailer, haul in the trailer, bath, clip, are good for the farrier and are fine with other types of grooming. They are the type of team that most anyone can hook up and use. You can come to the ranch to try them out before you buy them. We know you will love them.
